

BRITAIN'S INDUSTRIAL CRISIS THREATENS TO BRING REVOLUTION

General Strike Again in Prospect, With Mutiny Among Military Reservists Feared—Markets Dull and Uncertain, While Extremists Foment Unrest and Revolutionary Outbreak.

London, May 12.—Great Britain's industrial crisis has become so acute that the nation is threatened with revolution unless there is an early solution of the troubles. Inflammatory agitators are stirring up unrest among the military reservists and the whole situation was viewed with the utmost alarm today by "the city," the financial heart of the empire.

The present crisis—involving the possibility of a general strike throughout the United Kingdom and the further possibility of mutinies and outbreaks among the military reservists—was viewed as far surpassing in seriousness the general strike threat of three weeks ago. There is every indication that the struggle has now developed beyond a fight for higher wages.

It is rumored, but without official confirmation, that a new movement for actual revolution in Great Britain has been discovered. It is fostered by all of the elements of unrest that long have been giving the government trouble.

The stock, bond and financial markets have fallen into a state of uttermost dullness and hesitancy. The future outlook is so gloomy that traders fear to buy securities. Investors are holding aloof not knowing what the future holds in store but fearing for the worst.

Advertisements, which are accepted as a measure of the business world's assurance and confidence, have dropped amazingly within the last few weeks, especially in the financial and trade papers.

All of this hesitation cannot be accounted for by the natural conservatism of the British in the face of uncertainty. It is the result of actual fear.

The failure of the government to distribute promised maintenance allowances for the families of military reservists, who have now served four weeks on strike duty, has spread acute disaffection within the ranks. Already there have been outbreaks on the part of reservists which required strong measures to quell. Even the women members of the families of reservists who are constitutionalists and traditionally conservative, are joining their voices with the radicals who are calling for "direct action."

The locomotive engineers this afternoon voted overwhelmingly in favor of drastic support of the striking coal miners.

Already 6,000 military reservists have been recalled from the great depot at Aldershot, as the result of riots.

The government is genuinely anxious over the situation which has been aroused among the reservists by the activities of radical agitators. A twenty-four hour "watch central bureau" has been established in London for the collection of information regarding revolutionary agitations. This bureau will instantly despatch troops to any quarter where mutiny is threatened.

The threat of a general strike in support of the coal miners hangs like a pall over the country. Communist agitators have sought to make capital out of the troubled condition of affairs and the Sinn Féin sympathizers would undoubtedly utilize a revolutionary outbreak in the interests of an Irish republic.

With the national coal strike its forty second day, it was estimated today there now are 4,950,000 wholly idle or partially idle workers in Great Britain. Reports were current in reliable circles that government official will immediatly undertake a mediation mission in the Yorkshire coal fields, the most important in England.

There is no sign of a break in the deadlock on the "labor front." Additional industries are closing down due to the coal famine and the cost of the strike is mounting continually. It is now estimated that the total cost of the labor war to the whole nation is about $9,000,000.

The coal strike has developed international angle. Belgian coal workers at Antwerp, in order show the solidarity of labor, are refusing to load Belgian coal ships bound for England.

The United States

The United States is a large body of laughing loving people completely surrounded by trusts.

It is the richest country in the world, nowhere is food so plentiful, nowhere are the cows so friendly, the hens so industrious.

When the hens die they go to join unhatched children in a cold storage heaven, where they live forever. So too the cows, so too the fish, if there is room for them; if not, they are turned into fertilizer to keep them from scaling down the market price.

To add to the merit of the people, the sovereign farmers and financiers passed an amendment to the constitution and holy writ (see 1 Timothy 2:3) abolishing temperance, the sin of resisting temptation.

At their bidding, thousands of deadly grape vines have been destroyed and if these great and good men fulfill their promises, ere long the nation will be saved from the ravages of the vicious tobacco.

The United States is a large dry country bounded on the north by Canadian Club whiskey, on the south by Mexican Pulque, and on the east and west by salt water. The population consists of 100,000,000 thirsty souls, some of whom are Americans.

The Indian practice of painting and wearing feathers shocked the Pilgrim fathers and mothers, but the Pilgrim daughters made a note of these fashions for future use.

ACCORD FARMERS STOCK CAMPAIGN

Cooperative Association, Daily Incorporated, will Attempt To Sell $40,000 Of Capital Stock, Beginning Next Week.

The Accord Farmers' Cooperative, Inc., is rapidly becoming a real fact. They have formed their association, adopted by-laws, and elected directors, they have been incorporated with a capital stock of $40,000, one-half of which must be paid in the first year, and now they are launching their campaign to raise the money for which they have had printed subscription blanks, membership certificates, and stock certificates.

The campaign to raise the stock will begin Monday, May 16, and will continue 20 days, at the end of which time they confidently hope to have raised more than one-half of the capital stock. The territory is divided into its natural communities with a soliciting team for each. Each individual will be approached and it is confidently hoped that each will take stock.

The unit share is $5, and as soon as one pays in five shares or more he will receive a membership certificate which will make him a member of the Accord Farmers' Corporation, and as soon as he has paid in his entire subscription he will receive his stock certificate. Each member of this corporation is entitled to only one vote regardless of the number of shares he may hold. This corporation guarantees to pay 6% interest on all moneys invested in its stock. In addition to this, each member will share in the net earnings of the corporation. It is even provided that a non-member will share in the net earnings of the corporation on the basis of the amount of patronage he may have given. But in this connection it pays to be a member, because the member-patron will receive twice as much of the net earnings as the non-member. This is a real cooperative association wherein the net earnings and savings (the dividends) go back to the member and patron.

Each subscriber for stock ought to pay as much down on his stock as he possibly can, so that the actual working of the corporation can be started as soon as possible, but it is agreed that one-half of one's subscription is to be paid in not later than July 10th and the remaining half as soon after as convenient. Interest will be paid on all moneys beginning July 1st. On moneys paid in and invested before that time accrued interest will be paid. This corporation is going to be run in a business like way in behalf of the farmers and stockholders. It is something we all want to get in on and support to the limit.

Notice the big thermometer in Gross Schoonmaker's front yard, as it registers the progress of this stock raising campaign. Help make it boil.

Jurors Excused.

All jurors not engaged on the present case being tried in supreme court were excused today for the term. When the present case is completed there will be no further cases taken up at this term of court.

DOLLAR DAY USUAL SUCCESS

Dollar Day weather brought Dollar Day crowds to Kingston stores today in anticipation of the bargains in almost all lines of merchandise which a succession of these trade events has taught the public to expect. The rail and bus lines brought unusual numbers from the surrounding country besides hundreds who came in their own cars. Where permitted, many of these people bought with the apparent idea of stocking up on some particularly useful and attractively priced articles until the next Dollar Day. And, of course, they were able to choose in advance from the comprehensive advertisements the cooperating merchants have published. The number of shoppers grew as the afternoon advanced.

W. H. Rudderham, chairman of the Retail Branch of the Chamber of Commerce, said this afternoon that he was much gratified with the results as they proved that the two cardinal principles underlying Kingston's Dollar Days are entirely sound. These principles, the maintenance of which has been the committee's chief object, are the close cooperation and the faithful performance of the promises carried in their advertisements.

The Mussulmans' Sacred Black Stone.

The Kaaba, or Caaba, the most sacred shrine of Mohammedanism, toward which Mussulmans turn their faces in prayer, is a cube-shaped, flat-roofed building in the center of the Great Mosque of Mecca. In the northeast corner is the famous "black stone." This stone is of irregular oval shape, about seven inches in diameter, and probably of meteoric origin. When Mohammed returned triumphantly to Mecca, he destroyed all the idols found in the Kaaba, which had fallen into pagan use, but spared the "black stone," which all Mussulmans venerate.

ULSTER APPEALS ARE DECIDED

Verdict Of No Cause Of Action In Two Cases Against Carman Estate Administrator Stands—Markle Wins Appeal—Kelly's "Duty" Goes Into Complaint.

Appeals in four Ulster county cases, each of which involved a charge of incendiarism, have been decided by the appellate division of the supreme court at Albany.

The appellate court handed down a decision in the case of Howard Humiston, appellant, against Myron C. Wood as administrator of the will annexed of Nathaniel W. Carman, deceased, respondent. Mr. Carman for a number of years conducted an undertaking business at Kerhonkson. It was claimed by Mr. Humiston, who bought the business, that Mr. Carman set fire to the buildings and he brought suit to recover the value of personal property which he claimed had been destroyed by the fire. The action was tried before Judge Hasbrouck and a jury in the supreme court in this city and the jury found a verdict of no cause of action. From Judge Hasbrouck's order refusing to set aside the verdict and for a new trial the plaintiff appealed to the appellate division. That court has affirmed Judge Hasbrouck's judgment and order with costs, under section 1171 of the Code of Civil Procedure. All the judges concur except Judge Kiley, who dissents with a memorandum in which Judge Woodward concurs.

Another case growing out of the same transaction was brought by the Continental Insurance Company against Mr. Wood as administrator of Mr. Carman, and was to recover the insurance moneys which the company had paid in settlement of the fire loss. This case also was tried before Judge Hasbrouck and a jury and the jury gave a verdict of no cause of action. From Judge Hasbrouck's order denying a motion to set aside the verdict and for a new trial the insurance company appealed to the appellate division, which has affirmed his judgment and order, with costs, under section 1317 of the Code of Civil Procedure. All the judges concur except Judges Woodward and Kiley, who dissent.

In the Humiston case, Judge John G. Van Ethen represented Humiston; in the insurance company, Richard J. Donovan of New York city represented the company, with Judge Van Ethen, of counsel, Mr. Wood was represented in both cases by John R. DeVany.

The appellate division also decided the case of Alfred Markle, appellant, against Zachary Osborne, Margaretta Osborne, his wife; the Jewish Agricultural and Industrial Society and Jacob Lukinsky, respondents. The action was brought to foreclose a mortgage. Mr. Markle, the plaintiff, became the owner of the mortgage by assignment from Cornelia J. Terwilliger. The defendant Osborne set up as a counterclaim a judgment which he had recovered against Cornelia J. Terwilliger for burning a building on the property covered by the mortgage. The case was tried before Judge Jenkins in county court and he handed down a decision on the last day of his term as judge, holding that the judgment obtained by Osborne against Terwilliger was an offset, which he allowed. Mr. Markle appealed from his judgment. The appellate division had reversed the judgment and grants a new trial with costs to abide the event, on the ground that the trial court was in error in receiving in evidence the judgment against the assignor, and without considering any other questions in the case. All the judges concur except Judge Kiley with an opinion in which Judge Woodward concurs. John R. DeVany appeared for Mr. Markle; John W. Eckert was attorney for Mr. Osborne and the other defendants.

A decision also was handed down in the case of Hubert Kelly, respondent, against the Home Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Brooklyn, N. Y., appellant. This is one of a number of cases to recover on policies of fire insurance which the companies have refused to pay because, they allege, the buildings were not insured. When the case came to trial before Judge Nichols and a jury at the court house in this city, the insurance company moved to dismiss the complaint on the ground that the word "duly" had not been used in the complaint in alleging due performance of the various acts required of the plaintiff. Judge Nichols declined to allow the complaint to be amended but dismissed it. Later a motion was made by the plaintiff before Judge Hasbrouck at special term to amend the complaint by inserting the word "duly," and he granted the motion. From his order the insurance company thereupon appealed to the appellate division, which has unanimously affirmed the order with $10 costs and disbursements. John R. DeVany appeared for Mr. Kelly; Mills A. Mills of New York city represented the insurance company, with Judge Jenkins of this city, of counsel.

UNDERNEATH THE CITY HALL DOME

The Tale of Why He Wanted to Buy a Raven—Marriage License Wanted, But He Forgot to Bring Along His Intended—Sidelights of City Life.

He was short and chubby, red-faced and freckled, and a genial smile illumined the lower half of his face, as he strolled into the lower corridor of the city hall this morning, and asked the first one he met as to where he could obtain a marriage license.

"Well you are rather early," replied the one questioned.

"Better early than late," quoth the chubby one, "and I always like to be on the job first."

"That's a good failing," observed the other, "but where is your intended?"

"My what?" asked the chubby one.

"The one you intend to marry," explained the other.

"Oh, I did not think it necessary to get her out so early," explained the chubby one easily.

"Well, if you want to get a license," replied the other, "you had better get her here."

"How's that?" asked the chubby one.

"Both parties have to be present to obtain a license," explained the other patiently.

"Gosh," said the chubby one, "I never knew that" and he left in a hurry presumably in search of the one he intended to honor with his name.

And talking of marriage licenses City Clerk Doremus had a funny one happen not so very long ago when a young couple entered his office and obtained a license to marry. The following day the young lady appeared on the scene with another man, and sought another license.

"Your face looks familiar?" said the city clerk, "didn't I issue you a license yesterday?"

"You did," confessed the young woman with a blush, "but you see since then I met his brother and have changed my mind."

The first license was later returned and canceled, and the young lady who changed her mind married her last choice.

He was tall, dismal looking and the pants he wore bagged at the knees, and he appeared the incarnation of Old Man Hard Luck, as he rambled into the city hall this afternoon, and glanced inquiringly around.

"What's on your mind?" asked one of the city officials as he met the stranger in the corridor.

"Do you know where I can buy a raven?" asked the dismal one, and he took a fresh "chaw" of tobacco from his hip pocket.

"This is the city hall?" explained the official in a surprised tone.

"I know it," replied the dismal one, "but I have tried all over town, and I thought maybe some of you fellows here could help me out."

"What do want a raven?" asked the official in a doubtful tone of voice as he glanced at the dismal one with speculative eyes.

"Well I tell you," explained the dismal one, "so many of my friends say that a raven lives to be three hundred years old that I thought I would buy one and find out if it was true."

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes

Answers to Previous Questions.

1. Does the cottontail rabbit turn white in winter?

Not generally speaking. We have varying hares in North America that turn light or white in winter, but these belong either to L. Americanus, well distributed from middle up to Alpine districts—or to L. campestris, a distinct species of the prairies of the west and up into British America. Cottontails belong to L. sylvaticus, much smaller. Within recent years they have extended their range into the Province of Ontario, and in a cold climate tend to adopt the light coat of many fur-bearers of the north.

2. Which mate is the active partner of a bird pair?

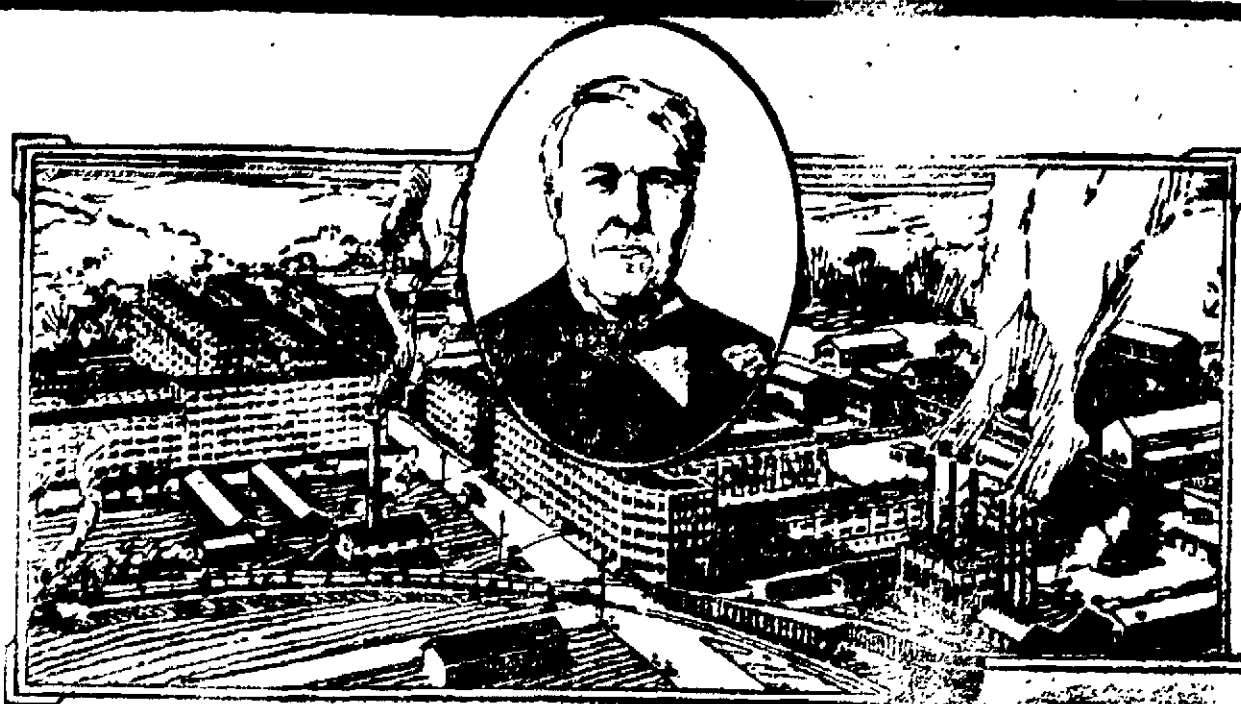

In almost all cases of joint interest the female bird is the most active. She determines the size of the nest, and is generally the most absorbed in its construction. Usually, she is more vigilant in caring for the young, and manifests the most concern when danger threatens.

3. What harm do cats and dogs do what diseases do they carry, and how can it be treated?

Pet animals associated in a house where there is a contagious disease carry germs in their fur, and distribute them abroad. Disinfectants and scarlet fever are often spread in this way. Cats are also said to carry some times fleas infected with germs of tubercle plague, acquired through rats that act as hosts to the plague infected flea.

A North Street Fire.

Wednesday evening some burning paper blew against the board fence enclosing Altimail's Joe home on North street, near the junction with East Street, setting fire to the fence. A fireman who noticed the neighbors who extinguished the blaze with pails of water. Some one turned in an alarm of fire from Box 12 to which the fire department responded, but found that there were no flames and no wounded.

Made by its inventor The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

THOMAS A. EDISON invented the New Edison. And in the shadow of beautiful Llewellyn Park, Orange, N. J., he built and equipped the finest, most modern phonograph laboratories in the world. There he makes the New Edison and guards its quality with zealous attention.

Think a moment! What other phonograph or talking machine is made, protected and sponsored by its inventor—by an Edison?

Mr. Edison spent three millions of dollars in research work to perfect the New Edison. Then, to prove its perfect realism, he stood the New Edison side by side with the living artist and matched its voice with the actual performance of the living artist. No one was able to detect any difference between the two. The New Edison has stood this amazing test over five thousand times before more than five million people.

Again we ask you to think a moment. What other phonograph or talking machine can sustain this test of direct comparison with living artists?

TIME ALL ASKEW
New Law Causes Inconvenience
Writes Woolsey

Time is in confusion according to a communication from C. Meech Woolsey of Milton, the well-known Civil war veteran and lawyer, printed in the New York Herald, in which he speaks of daylight saving differences between town and country. Mr. Woolsey writes as follows:

"To the New York Herald:—Isn't there some way to reconcile this daylight saving plan with the general law? As things are there is no end of uncertainty and confusion about time. Individuals and communities are doing about as they choose. It is confusion worse confounded all the time. The law passed by the legislature restoring the lawful and customary time, but giving the right to municipalities to follow daylight saving time has put the people of this state to great trouble, inconvenience and loss.

There are various arrangements at different places. Up in Sullivan county, for instance, the board of supervisors stands by the law as passed. In the village of Monticello the authorities have declared for daylight saving, and while the courts of the county are being held according to one time, the courts of the village are being held according to another time.

And this matter extends to the time of service in the churches and to the time of opening the schools. This condition prevails throughout the state to a great extent. Courts of record in the country have one time, and the cities in some counties have adopted another time and run their business on a different time.

It is making much trouble and inconvenience throughout the state and many do not know where they stand nor what to do. It demoralizes business, makes delay and trouble. There should be some relief, even if the legislature has to be called together to vacate the entire proceedings.

COTTRELL
Cottrell, May 11.—The G. C. A. organized girls class of the Cottrell Reformed Sunday school will give an entertainment and box social in the Cottrell Reformed Church on Wednesday evening, May 18. The entertainment consisting of songs, solos, duets and recitations will begin at 7:30 o'clock standard time. The admission to the entertainment will be one old rubber, rubber foot or auto tire for each person coming, or gold, and in case of failure to bring it, an admission fee of five cents will be charged. At the close of the entertainment, boxes of lunch for two people, which the ladies of the church will bring, will be auctioned off to the highest bidder. There will also be a refreshment for sale, coffee will be furnished free to the purchasers of the boxes of lunch. A jolly good social time is in store for all who attend, and a general invitation is extended to all. If very stormy, then on the next fair evening. Proceeds for the G. C. A. girls class of the Cottrell Sunday school.

WEST SAUGERTIES
West Saugerties, May 11.—The school meeting was held on Tuesday evening in the school house. Peter F. Hommel was elected trustee to succeed Fred Cole. The community is very fortunate to get a man of Mr. Hommel's education and ability to fill the office. He has only been here a little over a year but has shown such efficiency, that he has been made president of the G. C. Society and superintendent of the Sunday school. We have no more officers or he might be forced to fill them. The other officers were re-elected.

Mr. Fiedler has moved his family in the home he bought from Mr. Brown and is now planning to move to the new home.

Walter Cole, who has been ill, is able to be around again.

The dance held in the club house on Wednesday evening, was fairly well attended considering that the weather was so unfavorable.

Mrs. Shaw and daughter, Rena, spent a few days at their bungalow.

James and Ida, both from Saugerties, were up for the dance and spent the night and part of the next day with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Bush.

Marguerite Cordes of Kingston spent the week end with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Kachelhuber and son of Jersey City called at the home of P. Cole on Sunday.

The school children enjoyed a picnic with Miss Brooks on Friday afternoon.

Mr. Fiedler has returned from New York where he attended a conference.

John Widdowson and wife of Newburgh were in this place on Sunday. John needed here a very long time and came back home in a very good mood.

SYMPHONISTS ALL OF KINGSTON

Because of the betterment in the music at our moving picture theatres and the increased employment of local orchestras for big dances, and the fact that many more of our young people are now studying orchestral instruments, the Kingston Symphony Orchestra which is to give its concert at the Opera House next Monday evening, will be made up entirely of Kingston musicians, both professional and students. Moreover the number of performers will be greater, and with the many rehearsals held this concert promises to be the best yet given by the Symphony Orchestra of Kingston.

Then, too, now that Madame Hanna Brooks-Oettinger has a studio in Kingston she, too, may be counted a Kingston musician, although her reputation is founded upon her successful singing in New York, Europe and South America.

Press notices from New York city, that most critical of musical centers, from Dresden, from Buenos Aires, etc., are indeed flattering.

Possessed of a remarkably tuneful voice, excellent musicianship and a pleasing personality, Madame Oettinger has already won many musical friends in Kingston who will be very glad to hear her sing with the orchestra next Monday.

Then, too, the program is an especially pleasing one, and one that our musically awakened school children will enjoy as they have never enjoyed a Symphony Orchestra concert before. As usual, Mrs. Reed will give a brief oral explanation of the program in the afternoon.

The sale of single tickets begin on Friday, and as the tickets are but one dollar and fifty cents in part of the gallery, also the general admission tickets, there should be a large sale of such tickets, which may be purchased and seat coupons secured at Rider's music store on Wall street, beginning Friday morning. Wednesday patrons exchanged their tickets; today subscribers will exchange theirs and Friday the general sale of tickets will begin.

HUNT CHURCH LOOT

New Party Formed to Seek Treasure of Bandits.

Wealth of Gold and Precious Stones
Taken From Church in Peru During Revolution and Buried.

Papeete, Tahiti (Society Islands).—Interest has once more been aroused in the treasure reputed to be buried in the island of Pihaki, one of the coral islands to the eastward of Tahiti, and a new association has been formed in Tahiti to seek for the treasure.

The story is that during a revolution in Peru 60 years ago a church was looted of a rich treasure of gold and precious stones by four men, who succeeded in getting it to the coast where they buried it in a safe place, afterward making their way to Pihaki.

Having secured a schooner there they returned to Peru, recovered the treasure and sailed to the westward intending to make Australia their destination. Without papers, they could not gain entrance to any port.

So they determined to bury the treasure on an uninhabited island until such time as they could get a ship with proper papers and return to the island.

They scuttled their schooner on the Australian coast and coming ashore in the guise of shipwrecked sailors, started for Sidney overland. Two only, by name, Killrain and Brown, arrived in Sidney; the other two having been killed in a fight with bush natives. Such is the story of the burial of the treasure.

The tale of the attempts for its recovery began in 1882 or 1883 when one day on the streets of Sidney a man by the name of Thompson was accosted by an elderly beggar seeking alms. On giving the man a small sum Thompson was surprised by the request for his name and address.

Some time later he was summoned to one of the hospitals of the city. There he discovered that the one who had asked for him was the beggar whom he had befriended some time before. The old man told him that he had sent for him to disclose to him the resting place of a great treasure. He said that he, Killrain, being the only survivor of the company and about to die, did not wish the secret to perish with him.

Thus it was that Thompson came into the knowledge of the story and sailing directions to locate the island. Being convinced that the story was founded on truth, he has spent eight years in search of it—so far without success.

Lately, some people in Tahiti have discovered what they believe to be a new clue and are preparing to fit out an expedition to go to the island.

IS CHAMPION TYPIST

Miss Wilfred Wheaton of New Haven, Conn., won first prize in the New England typists' contest at Boston recently. Miss Wheaton broke all previous New England novice records, writing 71 words a minute for 15 consecutive minutes.

Where City Water Goes.
Martins Ferry, O.—In days before prohibition the pumping station could keep the city reservoir filled all night, but of late the heaviest drain on the system comes from the operators on moonshine stills. Operators on moonshine stills are said to be letting the water run over the coils for cooling purposes from ten to twelve hours at a time, and there are so many stills running that it is a tax on the city's supply.

Girl Staged Holdup, but Forgot to Rob Her Prey

A girl held up in Chicago let her prey escape when she forgot her lines. She was accompanied by a male accomplice when she met Harry Baumstein.

"Put up your hands," she demanded, as she pointed a pistol at him. Baumstein put them up.

"Now what shall I do?" she asked, turning to her companion. Baumstein didn't want to see the police, so he turned the nearest street corner in swiftest time.

Watching the Bees.

Employer: "Young man, it will pay you to keep your eyes open while you are in this office." Office Boy: "Yes, sir, that's just what your wife told me when she came in this morning and saw what a pretty thing together you had."

"Peter, Where's Thy Wife?"

Man is always imagining that he hears bits of human speech in the calls of birds. The Boer on the South African veldt, though he seems unimaginative enough to a stranger, has his own pretty fancies of that sort. One of them is referred to by a correspondent of the New York Times. After a protracted winter the first signs of spring are the letters persons write to the press to say that they have heard the call of the red-throated cuckoo. The Dutch call him Piet, mijn vrouw (Piet, my wife), because his call sounds like those words. The story is that a Dutchman named Piet shot a female cuckoo one day and that ever since the male bird has followed him, asking, "Piet, mijn vrouw?" The story gains point from the fact that there is something melancholy in the bird's cry and that no answering call by the mate is ever heard.

Early Glazed Windows.

It is said that in the reign of Henry III of England a few ecclesiastical buildings had glazed windows. Sugar, however, a century before, had adorned his great work, the abbey of St. Denis, with windows, not only glazed, but painted; and I presume that other churches of the same class, both in France and England, especially after the lancet-shaped window had yielded to one of ampler dimensions, were generally decorated in a similar manner. Yet glass is said not to have been employed in the domestic architecture of France before the fourteenth century; and its introduction into England was probably by no means earlier. Nor indeed did it come into general use during the period of the Middle Ages.—Christian Science Monitor.

ALL DELIGHT TO HONOR FOCH

Whole World Paid Homage to the Genius of the Great French
Master of War.

Marshal Foch's home in the Avenue de Saxe, Paris, has become one of the wonderful dwelling places of the world. Far more than a dwelling place, it is now a museum of glory. The rooms of that modest first floor flat are crowded with the trophies which all civilization has offered in homage to the man who led the allies to victory. Such profusion of beautiful things and notable works of art is rare, and amidst it the unassuming figure of the marshal moves almost unnoticed, as it seems, by the possession of these precious tributes, which only his kindly courtesy induced him to accept.

They come from every part of the world. That large, solid silver statuette of a French general of the Napoleonic wars is signed by Los Amigos de Francia a Francophile league in Spain. Next to it is an altar piece by a French master. Over the hearth stands a great gilt empire clock inscribed "To Marshal Foch from the grateful town of Cassel."

Gold canisters, jeweled swords of honor, antique and valuable miniature and ivories, the splendid enamel collar of the Grand Cross of the Bath, are crowded together in the glass cabinets that line the walls. Here is all the respect, all the enthusiasm, all the gratitude and joy of victory of a whole world, expressed in the finest and loveliest forms that the ingenuity of great artists, sculptors, goldsmiths, can contrive. And it is proof and touchstone of the merit of the man to whom they have been offered that he lives in this illustrious treasury of glory without seeming to be conscious either of it or his fame.—G. Ward Price, in the Contemporary Edition of the London Mail.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, May 12.—The stock market opened active and unsettled today with independent steel stocks the feature. Crucible fell one point to 77, Republic dropped 1/4 to 53 3/4, Bethlehem Steel "B" declined 7/8 to 56 1/2 and United States Steel opened unchanged at 84 3/4. American International declined 1/4 to 50, American Woolen advanced 1/4 to 77 1/2, American Smelting dropped 1/4 to 12 1/2, Reading declined 1/4 to 13 1/2, Mexican Petroleum fell 1/4 to 13 1/2, Royal Dutch declined 1 point to 40, and Studebaker opened at 79 1/4, a decline of 1 1/4. Pan American declined 1/4 to 69 1/2 and Pacific Oil advanced 1/4 to 10 1/2. The action of the market in the early trading was construed as confirming current reports of a trade war in the automobile industry. There was a large crowd of brokers in Studebaker at the opening and the first sales were 2,500 shares from 78 1/4 to 79 1/4, a loss of 1 1/4 from yesterday's final price. The steel industrials were also unsettled, Inland dropping 1/4 to 88 1/2, the petroleum stocks were also lower, Royal Dutch dropping 1 1/2 to 65 1/2. The passage of the emergency tariff bill by the senate placing a tax on imported sugar was without influence on sugar stocks.

Further substantial losses were sustained in the stock market during the first hour but a steadier tone developed after these lower levels were established. The speculative element supplied stocks in large volumes. The motor stocks were in great supply. Studebaker sold off to 76, a loss of four points and Chandler dropped 1 1/4 to 70. The oils were among the weakest feature. Mexican Petroleum fell to 14 1/2 for a loss of over 3 points and Pan American Petroleum and Royal Dutch were both down over 2 points. The steel industrials showed little change from the early low levels.

The industrial issues showed a firmer tone in the afternoon, many of these stocks moving up a substantial extent from the low level, but weakness developed in the railroad list nearly all these issues being under pressure and declining sharply. Reading sold down to 76, a loss of 2 1/2 points. The market closed unsettled today. Government bonds unchanged. Railway and other bonds steady.

ROAD BUILDING

CAUSE OF DAMAGE TO ROADS

Pernicious Practice of Overloading Small Trucks With Narrow Tires Is Responsible.

With the rapid increase in the number of motortrucks operated over our highways, it has been found that many of what are called "improved" roads have failed to withstand the additional traffic imposed by the new form of local freight transport. This has given rise to new problems of road construction and maintenance, and in some states has led to the enactment of laws prohibiting the use of the large capacity truck, on the assumption that it is the heavy truck that does most of the damage to the road. The first result of this legislation has been to encourage the pernicious practice of overloading, under which trucks designed to carry safely a limited weight are forced to carry a large additional load. The tires of the various sizes of truck are made of a sufficient width to prevent their breaking or cutting the road surface when loaded to their proper full capacity, but when an overload is added the tire width is necessarily too narrow, and the danger of injury to the road becomes manifest. The tire width required for certain loads has been carefully worked out after many years' experience, and most states have laws fixing the weight that is borne by an inch of tire width. In all standard types of truck the width of tire corresponds to the load that can be safely carried, and truck manufacturers warn their customers against carrying a greater weight than that for which each size of truck is designed. The enactment of a law prohibiting the use of large capacity trucks leaves the same tonnage of freight to be moved, and with the heavy truck barred resort must be had to the smaller sizes. This means in many cases less economical and efficient service and prompts the manufacturer or merchant to try to make up for loss in load capacity by increasing the size of the load. With this additional load the gross weight on the tire exceeds the factor of safety, and thereby increases the danger of breaking the road surface. It is self-evident that a truck designed to carry two tons with corresponding width of tires, must do more damage to the road when it carries a ton or so more of load than its tires were intended for.

A striking example of the relation of overloading to impact is given in the preliminary report of the United States Bureau of public roads, in which it is stated that a three-ton truck, with a load of five tons, running at a speed of 15 miles per hour over a 10-inch rut, had an impact of slightly over 17 tons, while a 22-ton truck with a load of 32 tons, under the same conditions had an impact of only 12 tons. The fact that the overloaded truck had a heavier "spring" weight, that is weight not sustained by springs, accounted to some extent for its greater impact, but there can be no question that the overloading was a material factor in causing the greatly increased wheel pressure on the road.

Against this danger truck owners are constantly being warned by truck manufacturers, who strongly advise that no truck should be made to carry a greater load than the weight defined by its classification. Some states have enacted laws imposing fines for truck overloading but it will probably be found that enlightened self-interest will prove to be the best check on a practice that has been shown to be dangerous both to truck owners and drivers and the general public, and a source of injury to our roads that materially limits the benefits from the motortruck as a new agency for local freight transport.

Market Roads First. "Transportation highways, fit a useful place in our national life but the really important road is the one from the farmer's gate to his market town," said President Wilson in a message to the American Farm Bureau Federation recently in address to the National Association of Vehicle and Traction Manufacturers.

Insist on Permanent Roads. This is upon permanent roads in your county. They are cheating in the long run.

No Red Tape. "One thing I particularly admire about the law of transportation," said Senator Newton as he walked the length of the apple tree, "is the simplicity and common sense of the methods for its enforcement."

Leave it to State Legislators. Men who want millions of years watching his present stage of development, but he is damned sure spend his time on it. — St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

April Fool's Day. April Fool's day has long been known as the time to play jokes on one's neighbor. Just how long the custom has prevailed is not known. Some say that it started back in the beginning of time when Noah sent the dove out of the ark before the flood had abated. The date of this is supposed to correspond with our first day of April. And, inasmuch as the bird was not open an intentional mission, the custom gradually grew of sending quick friends on harmless expeditions.

It is the philosopher Seneca's description of conditions in Rome 2,000 years ago.

April Fool's Day. April Fool's day has long been known as the time to play jokes on one's neighbor. Just how long the custom has prevailed is not known. Some say that it started back in the beginning of time when Noah sent the dove out of the ark before the flood had abated. The date of this is supposed to correspond with our first day of April. And, inasmuch as the bird was not open an intentional mission, the custom gradually grew of sending quick friends on harmless expeditions.

The New York Press and public hailed "THE CABINET OF DR. CALIGARI" as the most startling innovation in the history of a photoplay production.

A mystery story as thrilling as the greatest masterpieces of Poe.

AMERICAN

***distinctively a novelty***

It has a cunning intelligence, a cleverness and a subtle humor.

TIMES

***will probably be sharply divided—and that's the first thing that recommends the picture***

Settings are the background, on rather an inseparable part, of a fantastic story of murder and madness, such as Edgar Allan Poe might have written. This story is coherent, logical, a genuine and legitimate thriller.

So the film, then, is a shocker for those who like such to reel in. It is a feast for those who want their action strong and straight.

WORLD

CORBETT WAITS FOR CARPENTIER

Former Champion Knows Frenchman Has Goods but Wants to See Him in Action to See How He Gets Results With Unusual Methods.

(By Telegram to The Freeman.)
New York, May 12.—Georges Carpentier will arrive here Sunday aboard La Savoie from Havre. I am very much interested in his coming and I suppose he will start light training at least within a few days after he lands.

Such training as a fighter can do aboard ship is so negligible that no doubt Georges will feel like stepping some the first time he gets warmed up. They tell me the French champion has been keeping himself in trim. I understand he is in just as good shape today as Jack Dempsey.

Carpentier is a source of great interest to me. I have met him on several occasions but have never seen him in action, and I am eager for the chance to see how he steps around; how he puts up his hands and what he does with them.

I am told that many of Georges's best punches are delivered as he goes up on to his toes as though following the blow. If this is true it will be worth studying for it is proven that he possesses a knock out punch, yet how he gets the maximum of power into it from such a position is more or less of a puzzle.

I say this because people who have watched him in action tell me that his right, in particular, is somewhat of a stiff-arm punch put over with arm crooked. I understand that he throws his shoulder and his weight into this punch without extending the arm to its full length and if such is the case the question arises—how does he manage to deliver this blow without the loss of speed?

There are people who refuse to credit anything new in the line of punching, people who believe the old methods that have prevailed for years are the only successful ones. I am not in this class. I place Carpentier on a 100 per cent basis as a puncher now and my opinion will not change until I have seen him in action. Whether it will change in his favor or not remains to be seen.

With a reputation as a puncher in his favor it must also be remembered that he is courageous. He proved that some years ago, when as a boy of 18, he fought such tough middleweights as Frank Klaus and Billy Papke, took everything they had, lost the decisions and refused to be discouraged. Then there was his battle with Joe Jeannette, one of the best big men of the last twenty years or so, with whom Georges stayed 15 rounds. He is evidently no hot-house product, this French boy, and from my impressions, gathered through several social meetings with him, I take it that he is a very cool, collected and confident boxer, the kind who is dangerous as long as he is on his feet with enough strength to put over a winning punch.

Open of Kingston Point Casino.

The Kingston Point Casino will open for the season on Saturday, May 21. The Casino has been placed in first class condition, and the floor is considered one of the best dance floors along the Hudson river. Balfe's orchestra has been engaged for the entire season and will have in its personnel Paul Zucca, who has made a great hit with the dancers of Kingston by his clever dancing and banjo playing, and "Jazz" Mullin, the eccentric trombonist of Poughkeepsie, who provided a great sensation at both the American Legion ball and the Knights of Columbus ball at Saugerties by his playing and his wonderful lullaby voice. Dances will be held every Wednesday and Saturday and on Decoration Day there will be dancing in the afternoon and evening. This season James H. Carey will have the management of the Casino.

The innovation will extend along all New York Central lines between New York, Boston, Chicago and St. Louis.

The inventor admitted that he was forced to discover some improved method of service to win back the old time freight business of the line; also to stop the enormous loss of goods by robberies.

No robber will be able, the inventor says, to open the steel container unless he uses dynamite, which is unlikely.

NEW FREIGHT PLAN BY N. Y. C.

Shipments Will Be Delivered to Merchants Doors by Motor Truck—A Container Car Invented by President Smith of Central Lines.

The Poughkeepsie Evening Star says:

Word was received here Tuesday of a sweeping innovation by the New York Central Lines, to be put into operation in the near future, by means of which freight will be handled direct to the doors of merchants by the use of locally employed motor trucks, thus effecting a saving of time and expense to both shippers and consignees.

As this improvement in service is to extend over the entire system, The Evening Star called up the officials at the Grand Central Terminal in New York at noon Tuesday and received substantial confirmation.

It is an invention by President Smith of the New York Central Lines, in the form of a "container car" that promises to prove of such great interest to Poughkeepsie merchants and business men everywhere.

Superintendent of Transportation C. F. Smith, who talked with The Evening Star over the long distance wire, was told of the existence of a local report that all freight arriving at Poughkeepsie will be delivered by motor trucks to the doors of the merchants, and that other freight parcels will be collected on the same trips by the motor trucks which will be used by the Central in future.

"That report is slightly premature," Mr. Smith stated. "What we are doing this week is in preparation for such an improved system of delivery. General freight, carried in bulk, will still follow the usual course. In shipments small enough to go into one or more of these steel containers, the service will be much quicker, for the receptacles will be handled as easily as a small package."

There are nine steel boxes or containers placed on a platform car especially designed to hold them.

The experiment now being made with the pioneer car covers the entire distance between Chicago and Cleveland. Mr. Smith stated today.

If a single container is billed to Poughkeepsie, for instance, the freight train will be detained only long enough to have the container hoisted out by means of a station hoist, an operation requiring less than a minute. The train will move on, and the container will be forwarded by motor truck to the consignee without delay.

The Central does not propose, however, to own or operate a fleet of motor trucks, but will make arrangements at each locality for the use of trucks for this purpose.

The innovation will extend along all New York Central lines between New York, Boston, Chicago and St. Louis.

The inventor admitted that he was forced to discover some improved method of service to win back the old time freight business of the line; also to stop the enormous loss of goods by robberies.

No robber will be able, the inventor says, to open the steel container unless he uses dynamite, which is unlikely.
